OCSEA AFSCME | UNION COLLEGE BENEFIT EDVANCE

Your training may count toward a degree.

The training hours you've already logged may count as college credit—plus discounted tuition at accredited schools.

Corrections officers, DYS staff, developmental center workers, veterans – the training hours you've already logged might count as college credit.

Your Union College Benefit includes a school that converts documented training into credit toward a criminal justice degree. Members with 600 hours may be able to cover an entire 15-credit requirement with what they already have, and the evaluation to find out is free.

A Student Success Coordinator can help you sort through it! Members and families are eligible.

See what your hours are worth!
